Which meetup did you attend?

I joined the Intro to Python webinar that was offered through Eventbrite. It was in a time zone that worked for me being here in Bangladesh. It was held on May 17th starting at 7 pm Bangladesh Standard Time.

What did you learn?

We learned what Python is, a high-level programming language that was developed in 1991. It is the third most popular language in computer programming. It is also the programming language that is growing the fastest. We learned some coding basics like syntax. A difference between Python and Java is that Python comments out with # and not //. We looked at some modules and then were able to code-along with a live demo presented to us by George Jones, which is a pretty standard name for an Englishman. Afterward they held a question-and-answer session to talk big picture and smaller picture idea.

Did you meet anyone new?

I didn't necessarily meet anyone new. The course was from a Bahrain company of General Assembly. I gathered that they do something like Promineo Tech in helping people learn computer programming. An interesting part of the people in the course was that there were people from Greece, Bahrain, London, and Singapore!
